Red Dooin Is Freed Of Sunday Baseball Charge

MANY CHANGES MADE IN YANKS 25 PLAYERS NEW

Infield About the Same, But Shifts in Other Places.

OXFORD, Miss., May 14. (Spl.)—For some time past parties have been in the eastern part of the county, around and about LaFayette Springs, 18 miles from Oxford, prospecting and have announced that oil can be had by boring. They have had the dirt and rock examined by oil experts and they state that the prospect is as good as the prospect was in Texas before those people began boring.

BADEN-POWELL SPECIAL

Giants And Robins Arrange List Of Sunday Dates

READING, Pa., May 14.—Charles Dooin, playing manager of the Reading International league baseball club, accused of playing ball on Sunday, May 4 was discharged by a local court yeaterday because of insufficient evidence. The prosecution had been brought at 18, 25, June 1, July 13, 20, 27, Aug 17, the instance of the Reading Ministerial association. The prosecution will make further efforts to stop baseball here on Sundays.

READING, Pa., May 14.—Sunday games were scheduled for the New York and Brooklyn National league teams to conform with the recently adopted city ordinance permitting such contests. The New York team dates are: May 18, 25, June 1, July 13, 20, 27, Aug 18, 25, June 1, 29, July 6, 13, 20, 27, Aug 10, 17, 24, 31, Sept. 7.

The majority of these games were secured by advancing contests scheduled for the final weeks of the season.

LIMIT IN NATIONAL

NEW YORK, May 14. Return to the maximum list of 25 players for each club in place of the 21-player limit adopted earlier in the year was decided upon at a special meeting of the National league here yesterday. This action was taken as a result of the difficulty which has arisen in placing superfluous players in the minor leagues.

The addition of Poll Perritt and Fred Toney will strengthen the only weak department on McGraw's team. The showing of the pitchers thus far has not been satisfactory and it was an open secret that the hurling depart-ment was causing the manager grave concern.

GUEST OF GIRL SCOUTS

WASHINGTON. May 14.—Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, who laid the foundation for the present boy scout movement, and Lady Baden-Powell, were special guests togay at a meeting of the national council of girl scouts at which plans were made for strengthening the girl scout organization in America.

ment was causing the manager grave concern.

Perritt was the "ace" of the New York staff last season. Last year he discovered oil on his lands in Louisiania and that fact caused him to announce his retirement from the gare. The work of the sport returned, however. It is expected that he will take only a short time to get in condition. While with Cincinnati Toney was regarded as the star of the Reds' staff and one of the leading hurlers in the league.

Dempsey's brother, Bernard Demp-

Dempsey's brother, Bernard Dempby-that same Bernard who himself bught as Jack Dempsey and abanoned the ring to become a miner—had one to Cripple Creek, Col., to work the mines when he heard that the resent Jack had been doing some ghting over on the western slope of the state. This news seemed to have een of interest to Bernard, for he sent or Jack to come over into his section the country.

This laudable thought was shared by Morgan Williams, a former light heavy-weight of some ittle ability, who originated in Cripple Creek and fought all over the West in his time.

It was their idea to pitch the battle at the little town of Ramona, hard by Colorado, Springs, so Jack Dempsey journeyed via freight to the springs, and waited there while negotiations were in progress. But the battle with Hansen never came off, so Bernard and Morgan Williams dug up a match for Jack in Cripple Creek.

A fellow named George Copeland was the party of the second part. I never heard of him as a fighter before or since I heard Dempsey mention his name, although I thought I knew all the fist swingers of the Rocky mounwere in progress. But the battle with Hansen never came off, so Bernard and Morgan Williams dug up a match for Jack in Cripple Creek.

A fellow named George Copeland was the party of the second part. I never heard of him as a fighter before or since I heard Dempsey mention his name, although I thought I knew all the fist swingers of the Rocky mountains, west of that particular area anyway. However, he may have been a good fighter at that. Some people in Cripple, Creek must have thought so, because Jack says Bernard and Morgan Utility and the fight.

"They said theyd" split their bets with me," says Jack, "but they didn't do it. I knocked Copeland out in the sixth round. I got $50 for the fight, which was good money any way you look at it."

He tarried in Cripple Creek and went to work in the mines. He worked there about a year, part of the time with his brother and part of the time in the Golden Cycle, the Portland and other famous mines of the region.

Morgan Williams was promoting fights in Cripple Creek then, but Jack Dempsey couldn't get any more engagements in that line. The wonder is Merzan didn't fight him himself. From Cripple Creek Dempsey went down to Pueblo, and in Pueblo he shipped with a gang of men for Upton, Utah, to work on a raircad grade. It used to be—and maybe it is to this day—quite an idea to ship out in that fashion through the medium of an employment agency, either to really work or just to get further along in the direction one chanced to be going. Dempsey snipped on this occasion under the inspiration of a deaire to work, but a few days on the grade at Upton cured him. He sat down with a companion one afternoon to think the matter over. Dempsey didn't know it at the moment, but he had turned Boishevik.

"We've resigned," they announced.
"Ye'h?" said the boss a trifle queru-ously. "Well, no work, no eat."

One word led to additional words. Dempsey and his pal arose as if to take their departure.

"Til show you bums something," said the boss.

J. E. JENNINGS "MULE" KICKED ON THE NAME "MILTON." When "Mule" Watson, the Phillies' big pitcher, was christened, the parson, at the instigation of the future ball tossers' parents, hung the name of "Milton" on him, at which the "Mule" registered his first kick. As soon as he grew old enough, he made a habit of "licking" any kid that referred to him as "Milton," and, at his behest the cognomen was first discarded and then forsotten. Just when he acquired the name of "Mule" he doesn't know; but that is what he has been called ever since he can remember. CHAMPION SHOT

Canadian Takes Title With 197 Out of 200 Targets.

J. E. Jennings, of Todmorden, Canada, won the fourteenth annual amateur championship of America at clay targets over the traps of the New York Athletic club at Travers Island, when he took the title with 197 out of a possible 200 targets. The new cham pion finished the morning string with out of a possible 100 targets. He ran straight during the afternoon, establishing a record for the shoot. It was the first time in the history of the championship that the title has been taken out of the United States. F. S. Wright, of Buffalo, who won the championship of New York state earlier in the week, finished second with 195. There was a tie for third place between G. S. McCarthy, Philadelphia, a former national champion: Mark Aris, of Thomasboro, Ill., and J. B. McHugh, of Wilmington, Del. Each had a total of 194. On the shoot-off the prizes went in the order given. Eive gunners tied for the sixth prize. They were finally placed with M. S. Hootman, another Canadian, in the lead. Then came J. Clarke, Jr., Worcester, Mass.; W. H. Yöle, New York A. C., J. B. Johnston, Jr., Pittsburgh, and C. Burmister, Chicago.

The shoot was the best has ever been given for the title, both in point of attendance and in scores. In the aggregate 158 gunners went after the title. Of the number, 24 had better than 190 out of a 90ssible 250 targets. ran straight during the afternoon, es-

Judge E. J. Kerwin, of Pine Bluff, was elected state deputy: L. Keating, state secretary; J. B. Kirchoff, state treasurer: F. Donahue, state warden; M. J. Kolb, state advocate; the Rev. F. J. Higgins, of Pine Bluff, chaplain. State Deputy W. J. Carter, of Fort Smith, presided over the convention and Dr. Morris, of Paragould, was the secretary.

BOLSHEVIKI REFUSE TO CEASE HOSTILITIES

remember.

The "Mule," besides being a pretty fair pitcher, is a rather pictur-seque character, a queer, eccentric sort of a fellow whom some managers have found it difficult to handle. He doesn't always attend strictly to business, but when he does is capable of giving opposing batters something to think about.

does is capable of giving opposing batters something to think about. He failed to report in Philadelphia on the day set for the departure of the team for the training camp this spring and Jack Coombs was worried concerning his whereabouts. After the club had been at Charlotte for two days, he wandered in and, without offering any explanations for his failure to appear earlier, laconically. "Got a stall here for a 'Mule?"

PARIS, May 14. (By the Associated Press.)—A wireless message received here addressed to Dr. Fridtjof, of Nan-here addressed to Dr. Fridtjof, of Nansen, head of the commission to feed Russia, from M. Tchitcherin, Bolshevik foreign minister, and relayed by the foreign office at Berlin, announces that the Bolsheviki refuse to cease hostilities as a condition of the provisioning of Russia by neutrals.

Tchitcherin says he received Dr. Nansen's communication dated April 17 on May 4. He thanks Nansen for his interest in the conditions in Russia but declares that a continuation of hostilities is necessary for political reasons and that it would be poor policy to stop them. The soviet government, he adds, is willing to support a movement to feed Russia so long as it has no political character "but will not be duped."

He then goes on to denounce Admiral Kolchak and Gen. Denikine and concludes by declaring that it will be impossible to give up fighting as enemies are attacking on all sides.
